NATURE NOTES

Summer Solstice begins on June 21, 2019 we transition from crisp spring mornings to warm summer nights. The smallest, yet mightiest frogs - the Spring Peeper will have quieted down giving way for the sounds of owls, crickets, and bats. Spring wildflowers will be in full bloom this month, a great time to take a stroll through one of our many prairies throughout Lake Farm - Capital Springs Recreation Area. Can you spot any young? June is a great month to see young wildlife including: fawns, raccoon pups, chicks, and caterpillars. Remember, young animals are often left throughout the day while their mom goes in search of food, often these animals are not abandoned. If you come across a questionable animal, take a picture and bring it to the Lussier Family Heritage Center and we can determine if it needs help or not. We hope that you can join us for some of our programs listed below.
